APPENDIX - Transgender Guideline

Guiding Principles

Athletics Alberta is committed to being inclusive and respectful of all participants in the sport of Track & Field Athletics. For the purpose of eligibility, members of Athletics Alberta compete on the basis of biological sex classification. Since male sex confers physical performance advantages, it is particularly important to ensure that the female sex category is protected.

Definitions

The following terms have these meanings in this document:

- a) “Sex” - Either of the two categories (male and female) into which humans are divided on the basis of their reproductive and biological functions [as usually denoted on their birth certificate].
- b) “Gender” – A set of cultural expectations regarding prototypical behavior (the most common manifestation is behavior that is “stereotypical” of boys/men or girls/women).
- c) “Gender Identity” - A person's perception of having a particular gender, which may or may not correspond with their birth sex.
- d) “Gender Dysphoria”- A term used to describe condition of feeling one's emotional and/or psychological identity as being different or opposite to one's biological sex.
- e) “Gender Transitioning” – Intentional actions undertaken by an individual (or, if underage, by their legal guardian) to alter physical characteristics that enable them to satisfy the desire to identify as the opposite sex.
- f) “Medical Practitioner” – A person licensed to practice medicine in Canada who has obtained a medical school diploma (“MD”) and is registered with the Physicians Credential Registry of Canada.
- g) “Gender Reassignment” – Intervention by a “medical practitioner” to facilitate “gender transitioning”; the most common forms of medical treatment include (but are not limited to) hormone therapy and/or surgery.
- h) “Transgender” person – An individual who is one sex at birth but, due to a “gender dysphoria”, identifies with the opposite sex. In order to align the body with “gender identity”, a “transgender” person makes an intentional effort to alter observable characteristics using various means including “gender reassignment”.
- i) “Transathlete” – A transgender person participating in sport & recreation.

Purpose

Athletics Alberta believes in equal opportunity for all participants. However, in instances where an athlete self-declares as transgender, Athletics Alberta will implement biology-based eligibility guidelines (see below) in order to ensure a fair and level playing field for each category: male and female.

Eligibility Guidelines

The following guidelines will be used to determine the eligibility of transgender participants (this applies to all ages):

- i. Male-born Transathlete must compete in the male category.
- ii. Female-born Transathlete has the option of competing as male or female under the following provisions:
 - a Permitted to compete as male irrespective of intervention strategy undertaken to alter sex.
 - b Permitted to compete as female after careful review of the individual case. The female-born athlete who self-declares as transgender must submit documentation from a Medical Practitioner concerning the nature of gender reassignment intervention. Inclusion in the female category will be permitted if it is deemed that the intervention has not resulted in the participant having a competitive advantage over fellow female athletes. For example, testosterone supplementation commonly used in the medical treatment of gender reassignment might cause the athlete to be in violation of international anti-doping guidelines. In the case of developmental situations (athletes still growing and developing), a female athlete found to have testosterone concentration exceeding the upper limit of the normal female range for the given age category (as reported in biomedical research), will be ineligible to compete as female.

NOTE: All athletes must be aware that they may be subject to doping control testing pursuant to the Canadian Anti-Doping Program.
